reel drama of the great Oklahoma plains entitled "Bad Men and Others" is also shown.

"The Candy Girl," the pretty playlet that is being presented at the Palace theater, is one of the best little comedies presented there for some time. The comedy, plot, song numbers, dancing, costumes and jokes are good and a quartet with the chorus is exceptionally fine. This company is booked for a long stay in the South and will open an engagement Thursday on account of which it must close its engagement at the Palace this evening so as to have plenty of time to make a long jump.

For Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, changing the program Friday, three big specialty acts have been booked, namely, Cavanaugh and Shaw in black face oddities, Shy and Shymon, harmony singers and instrumental players, and Miss Elizabeth Ward, "the girl with the sweet voice." The management believes that a change once in a while from the usual run of musical comedies will be appreciated by patrons and has therefore booked these acts especially for this week beginning tomorrow afternoon for the popular matinee at 2:15 o'clock.

Jacob Adler, the famous Yiddish actor-manager, is to make a farewell tour of the United States and Canada next year in a repertoire of American and Yiddish plays.

William A. Brady has changed the title of his forthcoming production from "Scandal" to "Evil Tongues," as the first title is also that of a moving picture. Grace Henderson and Albert Brown have been engaged by Mr. Brady for his production.

Eugene Besserer is being starred in her third successive special photoplay under the direction of Frank Beal. Following "The Melody of Doom" and "The Smoldering" the Selig emotional actress is playing a peculiar role in "The Way of a Woman's Heart."

LOCAL HORSES

Are Shipped to Other States to Start on the Present Racing Season.

The harness meeting at the half mile track at Youngstown, O., which is advertised for five days, promises to be one of the most interesting racing events in the country this season. Local interest will be strong for a large number of West Virginia horses will begin their campaign there.

Stout Brothers, one of the best harness strings ever assembled in West Virginia will ship to Youngstown and open there. Bob Litter who has the horses of Colonel A. D. Parr of this city, will accompany the Stout's to the Ohio town and begin the season there, as will a number of others who wintered at the Clarksburg track, while it is likely that W. B. Campbell, the Fairmont horseman, will ship his good Basil Duke over there to give him a little early education. Local people who are going are staked right down the line from Youngstown and their season will be a long one.

The Clarksburg horses were shipped to Pennsylvania Monday, their owners following on the 10:10 train at night. In the Stout car were the sensational pacers Birdonna, Lady Venus, Major Stout, Lord Stout and Silver Brush.

John Arnold, the veteran Clarksburg trainer, who will campaign a string this season, shipped Monday to Bradford, Pa., the following: King Direct, Jr., Marshall McKinney and

REPRIMANDED

Is Chauffeur for Splashing Mud on Some Pedestrians.

Denver Blackshire charged with exceeding the speed limit, was reprimanded by Mayor G. H. Gordon in police court Monday afternoon for his carelessness in driving an auto truck through a mud hole near the sidewalk, splashing the mud on pedestrians. The charge of exceeding the speed limit, which had been lodged against Blackshire, was dismissed. Witnesses said that the defendant was driving at a rate of between twenty and thirty miles an hour. However, evidence was produced that the truck which Blackshire was driving could run only fourteen miles an hour.

LOCKHART COMPANY MAKES HIT AT ODEON

Funny Comedians and Sprightly Chorus of Girls Keep Things Moving.

Mabel Lockhart and her "Merry Youngsters" are captivating the comedy audiences that are attending the Odeon theater.

Miss Lockhart has surrounded herself with a very clever and capable cast including Billy Zuhn, the imitable Hoosier school boy, who keeps the audience in a merry mood throughout the entire act, and Frank Ernest, who enacts the role of an old German school master.

The entire company is made up of artists and recalls to the hearts of many in the audience memories of bygone days. Musical and dancing numbers are interspersed throughout the play making every moment of the time most enjoyable. There will be a change of program tomorrow.

The pictures for today are a Biograph drama entitled "Old Offenders" and an Edison offering, "McQuade of the Traffic Squad."

Holbrook Blinn and Alice Brady are seen as stars in the five-part William on the successful stage play of the same name. It is an interesting story of business and politics and is powerfully dramatic.

Geraldine Farrar is to take dancing lessons from Theodore Kosloff, the Russian dancer, who, with his wife, has established a school of dancing in New York.

The fourth episode of "The Goddess" is on the Bijou screen today. Earl Williams and Anita Stewart are more fascinating than ever in this one. Lillian Walker and an all star cast are on in a two act Vitagraph comedy drama "The Silent W." The fact that two young ladies with names of the same pronunciation, one spelled with a "W," causes a lot of amusing situations. It is two reels of pure fun. "When We Were Twenty-One," a one-reel comedy, is also on. "Pathe Daily News No. 51" shows the "Giants" and Detroit playing baseball at Toledo. In this game Cobb for the first time faced Mathewson.

Guy Oliver, one of the Selig favorites, will be seen playing opposite Kathryn Williams in her animal feature, "The Mark of a Lioness." Mr. Oliver has had no experience with jungle beasts but has proved his nerve in many ways since appearing in other Selig productions.

The feature attraction on the program at the Robinson Grand today is B. F. Rolfe's magnificent production of Edward Rose's virile story, "Fighting Bob," in which the prime favorite, Orrin Johnson, appears in the title role supported by Olive Wyndham.

"Fighting Bob" tells the story of a venturesome young man who journeys to a South American republic to cast his lot with the down-trodden natives. It is in five acts, two hundred scenes and over one thousand people were used throughout the tropical portions of the production.

Wednesday, Betty Bellairs will be seen in a Spanish romance entitled "The Spanish Jade" and the second serial of the Paramount South American travels will be presented.

J. Warren Kerrigan plays the leading role in a two-part Victor photodrama today at the Star theater. It
